Teachers’ perceptions towards Curriculum Adaptations for students with special needs at Amarilis Fuentes Alcivar High School of Guayaquil city
EXPOSITORES

- Marjorie del Rocío Loor Aldás
  - Magister
  - Amarilis Fuentes Alcívar High School
  - Blessy.2077@gmail.com

- Sara Esther Aucapiña Sandoval
  - Licenciada
  - Unidad Educativa Dr. Alfredo Baquerizo Moreno
  - saraaucapina@gmail.com
Are teachers prepared to work with students with special needs?

Article 47
LOEI (Organic Law of Intercultural Education).
Education for people with disabilities
OBJETIVO DEL ESTUDIO

✓ Describe the Teachers’ perceptions towards Curriculum Adaptations for students with special needs at Amarilis Fuentes Alcívar High School.

✓ Design accommodation to adapt the curricular elements like objectives, content blocks, teaching and learning activities, assessment, and methodology employed, in their plans.
The online survey consisted of 10 statements with a 5 point Likert scale consisting of the following responses: strongly agree, agree, neither agree nor disagree, disagree, disagree, strongly disagree. The items of the survey were adapted from the original survey applied by Carmen Celestine Wiggins in 2012.
As a result of my training, I feel comfortable teaching students with disabilities in an inclusive classroom.

I am open to changing my teaching methods and adapting new objectives, activities, and assessments to meet the needs of students with disabilities.
• Toyin, Symphorosa, Jenny Shumba, & Adeola (2017) expose in their study that some teachers were not adapting the curriculum to meet the needs of all learners because of large classes and a lack of training.

• Schmidt, Gozendal, & Greenman (2002) “requires teachers to have strong background knowledge of their unique educational needs in order to achieve success. Effective strategies instruction for students with learning disabilities is evident in classrooms that engage all learners in actively constructing knowledge” (p. 56)
✓ Results of this study indicate that teachers’ perceptions towards curriculum adaptations for SEN students are significant in student achievement.

✓ Teachers need to examine their perception towards curriculum adaptations in order to continue to update their inclusion preparation and teachers’ beliefs.

✓ Opening to change their teaching methods and adapting differentiated objectives, tasks, and types of evaluation.

✓ Considering the needs and real context of SEN students. Besides, they accept responsibility for teaching students with learning disabilities.

✓ Neutral opinions about if they feel comfortable teaching students with disabilities in an inclusive classroom evidenced worried about their teaching strategies into the inclusion classroom.
Ingresa a:

www.cidecuador.com

Al finalizar este evento podrás encontrar esta presentación en su respectiva página web.